

“I am actually working as a Category Manager for International Modern Trade. This is a very exciting field because international customers have come to Pakistan. Global strategic customers like Macro and Metro are already here and others like Carrefour are on their way. I am responsible for the category management aspect of dealing with these customers on behalf of Unilever.”